

ABOUT THE AFFORDABLE CONNECTIVITY PROGRAM

The Affordable Connectivity Program is a federal government benefit program operated by the FCC that helps connect families and households struggling to afford internet service. The Affordable Connectivity Program provides:

- Up to $30/month discount for broadband service;
- Up to $75/month discount for households on qualifying Tribal lands; and
- A one-time discount of up to $100 for a laptop, desktop computer, or tablet purchased through a participating provider if the household contributes more than $10 but less than $50 toward the purchase price.

The Affordable Connectivity Program benefit is non-transferable and is limited to one monthly service discount and one device discount per household. If the program ends, or if a household becomes ineligible for the benefit, the household will be subject to the provider's regular rates, terms, and conditions.

Who is Eligible?

A household is eligible for the Affordable Connectivity Program if the household income is at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines, or if a member of the household meets at least one of the criteria below:
